SUMMARY OF THE PROJECT

The "Youth Educ(Action)" project will involve four European volunteers in two different organisations; two volunteers will be welcomed by the Escuela Diocesana de Educadores de Juventud (Voluntared) and others two by Magea Escuela Activa. The "Youth4You" project is a project linked to education, socio-educational programmes and training activities as a social engine for change and as a means to help strengthen the community and citizenship. The project represents, first of all, a learning opportunity for all the actors involved. Intercultural and experiential learning using participatory and individual-centred methods as part of the community.

ESCUELA DE EDUCADORES DE JUVENTUD (VOLUNTARED)

Escuela Diocesana de Educadores de Juventud (Voluntared) is a non-profit association and social action entity based in Burgos. Since its inception, it has promoted solidarity as a value and as a means to help strengthen the community and citizenship. It does this through socio-educational programmes, volunteering, training and recreational activities that enable the development of professional, personal and social skills. It has always paid particular attention to the social inclusion of the most disadvantaged groups, through the development of social, educational and work integration programmes that contribute to the promotion of a participatory and inclusive society.

The main activities in which volunteers will participate in Voluntared are:

- Educational, training, recreational and leisure activities. Volunteers will assist in the design and planning of the activities and summer camps - they will help in the preparation of the material and support in the implementation of workshops;

- Social and educational projects. Volunteers will assist in the design and planning of activities and programmes, as well as their evaluation - they will participate in the production of the material and provide support in facilitating workshops and courses;
- Communication and Volunteering Office. Volunteers will support the dissemination of the association's activities on the web and in the different social networks and will support the development of joint volunteer programmes between various third sector associations.

VOLUNTEERS PROFILE

- resident in EU member countries;
- motivation to participate in the project and specific activities;
- interest in the planned tasks and the learning pathway described;
- previous experience of volunteering or working in the sector;
- interest in non-formal education;
