A youth exchange funded by the Erasmus + programme

SOCIAL PARADE

"Social Parade" is a youth exchange involving 31 young people from 5 European countries: ITALY, SPAIN, CYPRUS, ROMANIA AND POLAND. All participants share the same passion for art and circus, are young people interested in intercultural dialogue and the fight against any form of discrimination or violence. The participants want to improve their artistic skills and, at the same time, address issues related to intercultural dialogue, good practices for the protection of human rights, but also face the challenges of active European citizenship. The young people are preferably between 20 and 26 years old (it is possible to widen the age range from 16 to 29), most of them live in rural or disadvantaged urban areas and suffer from a number of problems related to this aspect: lack of cultural, recreational and educational opportunities, high rates of youth unemployment and social marginalisation. In addition, young migrants/asylum seekers or refugees and young people who are unemployed, unemployable and/or NEET are involved.

Before the beginning of the mobility action, 5 Group Leaders (one for each country involved) and a coordinator are identified, who will be called upon to carry out preparatory activities aimed at getting to know each other, examining the accommodation of the mobility action and jointly deciding how to carry out the planned activities.

Participants become more aware of intercultural dialogue and deepen their knowledge of the cultures of the European countries involved through art and body expression. Through reflection on social issues such as racism, social discrimination and bullying they deepen the 'mutual knowledge' which is the basis for inclusion.

The impact of the project on the young participants is intense: they have the opportunity to confront themselves with peers from different national contexts, exploring extremely topical issues through non-formal and fun activities and through the use of circus art and the creation of new performances. Participants then develop their transversal skills and make friends with many peers around Europe and, through a greater knowledge of the Erasmus+ Programme, they will be promoters of a greater awareness of European citizenship.

The youth exchange provides personal and professional development for young people who can help other young people to participate in future Erasmus+ projects or can themselves write and manage new projects. Participants can become team leaders or coordinators of other projects and acquire new organisational and management skills. A virtuous process of "cascade training" is thus initiated in which the participants in the exchange become trainers/trainees of other enterprising young people who want to experience the exchange.

Moreover, the particularity of this exchange is that it produces tangible end results: the videos and performances made by the young people are disseminated on the web and, in an innovative and entertaining way, allow them to deal with topics concerning intercultural dialogue, respect for each other's culture and European citizenship. These products shared on the web could, due to their innovative nature, go viral and be viewed and shared by a large number of European citizens. Moreover, the participants who are in a marginal condition continue their path of social inclusion and empowerment within the promoting organisations, keeping in touch with all the other participants who provide them with further support even after the activities have ended.

The project also has a strong impact on the promoting organisations, which are able to cooperate, share good practices and develop new skills and techniques in the field of youth work, social inclusion and intercultural dialogue.

HOSTING ORGANIZATION

The youth exchange will be organized by the Italian hosting organization, Mediterranea Associazione per lo Sviluppo Locale (<http://www.medinforma.it>). of Youth Info-points in over 30 cities in the Apulia Region. This experience led to start up the “Informa” cooperative, leader in the region for job and training guidance. In the past years, Mediterranea has been also the main contractor for many national (PON) and regional/European grants (ERDF) such as the “OrientaLavoro” Front Office for job guidance and entrepreneurship, as well as the “InformaDonnna” infopoint addressing women.

In 2001 Mediterranea managed a Master in Cultural Heritage at the Lecce University together with Federculture, the Italian federation of Institutions working in the culture field.

Since 2002 Mediterranea has been in charge of VET and higher education projects, funded by the European Social Fund.

From 2002 to 2006 “Mediation Centre” has been created in the city of Bari for addressing the needs of many families, with a focus on children and teenagers. And from 2006 to 2008 a Family Centre supported disadvantaged families in Bari.

Since 2015 Mediterranea is managing a public open space in Alezio (Lecce), an “Urban Lab” with the aim of creating social and cultural initiatives for promoting social inclusion and active citizenship.

Mediterranea approach is based on active participation and involvement, non-formal and informal education and cross-sectoral multidisciplinary approach. Mediterranea cooperates with: public institutions especially at local and regional level; schools, universities, vocational and other educational institutions; public and private social inclusion organizations; other NGOs.

Youth Exchange

Dates

From the 10th to the 20th september (the 10th and the 20th are the travelling days).

Activities

During the mobility action, the young people are involved in games, convivial and self-management activities, in-depth studies and workshops. The activities include:

- An initial phase of brainstorming and reflection on issues related to discrimination and xenophobia, racism, bullying and cyberbullying, youth issues related to work and in-depth knowledge of the traditions of each country involved.
- An operational and workshop phase, in which young people are divided into groups for the creation of travelling performances, a final show and the structuring of flash mobs. The workshops represent a moment of strong personal and professional growth because the participants acquire practical skills and collaborate in groups to create a final product and put into practice concepts and reflections stored during the previous days.
- A final event open to the public, where participants perform circus art and carry out planned flash mobs, communicating the values and principles of this exchange to the local population. An itinerant event that involves and spreads positive messages in every corner of Alezio and Parabita. Afterwards, a convivial moment will be shared and reflections on the competences acquired thanks to the Erasmus+ Programme will be presented. In this occasion, a ceremony is foreseen to issue the participants with the YouthPass document, which is the certificate describing what they have learnt during the project activities. This tool is used precisely to validate non-formal learning by recognising the competences that learners acquire by participating in the youth exchange.
- The workshop activities are interspersed with games and role-plays to bring the group together and get to know each other. Intercultural evenings and a visit out of town to Gallipoli are also planned during the exchange.

All activities are carried out through non-formal learning methodologies and follow the learning by doing and peer education approach. The whole exchange is self-managed: not only the thematic activities, but also the management activities are carried out by the participants, which encourages active participation and the development of transversal skills.

The workshop activities are interspersed with playful moments and role-playing games that aim to amalgamate the group and get to know each other. During the exchange there will also be intercultural evenings and an out-of-town visit to Gallipoli.

All activities are carried out through non-formal learning methodologies and follow the approach of learning by doing and peer education. The whole Exchange is conceived, in fact, in self-management: not only the thematic activities, but also the management ones, are carried out by the participants and this favours active participation and the development of transversal competences.

Accommodation

“Ostello Salento” is a structure in Alezio (Lecce) equipped with all the basic comforts and in accordance with the law, where another successful youth exchange was held. The structure is surrounded by greenery, is distributed on a single floor with bathrooms and services with several bedrooms, a large kitchen, common recreation room and outdoor spaces.

The participants will be accommodated in a dormitory with shared rooms and toilets. We will use a self-management approach, so the participants will be divided in mixed groups (gender and nationality) to cook and to clean. These groups (in rotation) will be responsible to cook and clean the spaces. There will be no washing machine: we'll have so much fun, that you won't need it. Please before arriving, remember to bring all the materials you need for the activities and free time on a USB key (video, presentations, files, movies, ..).

Link: <https://www.ostellosalento.com/>

Some circus workshops will be held at 'Spazio Tabarin': The structure is a 7-metre high geodesic dome of about 150 square metres, inside which is a large space already equipped for sports activities. The structure is large and multi-purpose, and can accommodate a variety of disciplines in both the indoor and outdoor spaces.

The space is a gym for the body, where one plays, runs, jumps, studies coordination, balance and synchrony, but it is also a gym for the mind, which stimulates ingenuity, teaches one to be in a group, to overcome shyness, to try again every time one makes a mistake, to never give up. From the youngest pupils to adults, in all the courses and workshops within the project we work to rediscover the beauty of wonder, of fun, of putting oneself to the test!

Alezio: Alezio is a small town in the province of Lecce (Puglia Region) very close to Gallipoli. This proximity has made tourism an important element in the city's economy, which preserves a primary role for the traditional activity of agriculture. It was certainly a city of Messapia. In the city it is possible to visit the "Museo Civico Messapico" (Messapian Civic Museum) which houses the numerous finds found in the necropolis. The Sanctuary of Santa Maria della Lizza, built by the Normans in the 12th century and bearing traces of a pre-existing Byzantine building, is also worth a visit.

Gallipoli: Gallipoli is a small town on the Apulian coast famous for its beaches and crystal clear water. The old town is located on an offshore island connected by a bridge to the mainland. Many tourist and cultural attractions of the city: Angevin castle, churches, museums and historical buildings.

What to prepare

- Intercultural evening where you will have the opportunity to share something about your identity/culture with others. We suggest that all participants can go beyond the traditional “national culture” and think of their individual cultural identity. Think of the elements that compose your identity, the building-blocks of what makes you ‘you’, and try to show them to other participants during this evening. Maybe some of you are into traditional music and others more into rock culture; someone might really like those folk dances from your country and someone else knows everything about... Hip-hop; maybe you feel you are
